Glades Correctional Institution gets new superintendent

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Following the retirement of former Glades Correctional Institution Superintendent John Shaw, the close-custody facility in Belle Glade has a new superintendent who isn't new to criminal justice. Gerald H. Abdul Wasi brings to the Glades a multitude of experience.

Mr. Wasi, 46, is the first Black superintendent at GCI. He transferred to the Belle Glade facility from the Polk County Correctional Institution where he was superintendent there.

According to Mr. Wasi, "I don't have any immediate things that I want to do here, I'm just really going to keep them (inmates) inside the fence." Mr. Wasi said he is presently evaluating the security at the facility. He said he will seek funding for more security enhancements. "I am not going to fix anything that isn't broken."

Also of importance to Mr. Wasi are the inmates. He said he plans to provide the necessary things for the inmate population.

With the inmate population at 1,500, Mr. Wasi said, "There are no significant problems at GCI but we do need some additional staff."

With many employees at the facility, Mr. Wasi is interested in instituting a total package of quality management. He said he wants to involve staff in the decision-making of the facility. He said he encourages staff and inmates to "be all you can be."

He said he has visited many of the dormitories at the facility and he wants the inmates' input on things they want at the prison. Mr. Wasi said, "They're in prison, they live here, but they still have some say so." Mr. Wasi said he has always treated inmates and staff fairly.

Mr. Wasi said he has plans to become involved in the community. He said he would like to work with the youth so they will be deterred from the criminal justice system (as inmates). He said he will also encourage his staff to become involved in the community.

Originally from Plant City, Mr. Wasi is a graduate of Marshall High School. He attended the University of Central Florida and Rollins College. He has a degree in Criminal Justice. Mr. Wasi is also a Certified Public Manager having completed courses at Florida State University.

Moving to the Glades area was a move that the new superintendent wanted to do. He said he has plans to retire some day and his plans are to retire in South Florida. He said, "This area offers a lot culturally for Afro Americans."

Mr. Wasi is married and the father of five children ranging in ages from 15-24.

Police department's Truancy Interdiction Program is keeping kids off the streets

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Have you ever been driving down the street during school hours and wondered "why isn't that child in school?"

Well now, instead of wondering, you can call the Truancy Interdiction hotline at 996-4220 and report the truancy.

You'd be doing everyone a favor, says Jim Love, Truancy Interdiction Program (TIP) supervisor for the Glades. It cuts down on daytime crime.

Vandalism and burglary are some of the mischief young people can get into when they aren't in school, says Officer

Love.

The Truancy Interdiction Program of the Belle Glade Police Department, one of three in the county, began in September of 1993 through a grant from the Civil Services Council.

So far, the program has been very successful, with over 300 incidents where children have been picked up for truancy in the Glades.

It's a cooperative effort between the Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee Police Departments as well as the Sheriff's Department.

Dantzler bill is compromise farmers can live with says Robert Buker

By Robert Buker
Senior Vice President
United States Sugar Corporation

Editor's note: Mr. Buker is in Tallahassee during the sessions concerning Everglades restoration. Following are his views on how the proceedings are going.

TALLAHASSEE - Three Everglades bills were debated before the Senate Natural Resources Committee this past week which sent a clear signal of how the battle to restore the Everglades and protect farm jobs will be fought in the coming weeks.

The battle will pit environmental extremists parading under the banner of Marjorie Stoneman Douglas and demanding that farming be eliminated in South Florida against farmers and a small group of supporters who believe as we do that farming and the environment must be preserved at the same time.

Sen. Curt Kiser of Pinellas County presented a bill that puts farmers out of business. The Kiser bill would tax sugar farmers $78 an acre each year, raising $38 million a year and require that farmers pay the total cost of fixing the South Florida ecosystem, regardless of who is at fault for any of the problems. Notably it failed to tax urban areas or to even have the government pay to fix problems caused by the Corps of Engineers.

The ironic part of the Kiser proposal is that it rejects the Stormwater Treatment Areas for cleanup, originally a top priority of environmentalists, and offers no methodology for removing phosphorus from farm water runoff. The proposed bill doesn't say how the money would be spent, just how it would be collected.

The Kiser proposal contains the same "punish the farmers" language of a petition being circulated statewide by Orlando millionaire developer George Barley, who wants the State Constitution amended to get rid of farmers.

If the Kiser bill does not pass, the environmentalists' strategy became more clear as debate opened on the three bills the Senate Natural Resources Committee will choose among.

Sen. Rick Dantzler of Winter Haven presented his version of a new Everglades Protection Act which was tough on farmers, but allowed them to survive.

Dan Thompson, chief lawyer for the State Department of Environmental Protection, presented the Administration bill which contains numerous unfair and harmful sections. The bill calls for farmers cleaning their neighbors' pollution and paying their neighbors' taxes. The government would have the right to come back and impose new standards and new regulations on farmers at any time, making useless the spending of hundreds of millions of dollars building Stormwater Treatment Areas.

Sen. Dantzler said his bill was designed to create compromise legislation that helps restore the Everglades, "without causing economic chaos."

Many of the members of the natural Resources Committee appeared to be equally concerned about the potential economic devastation.

County Comm. Foster's re-election campaign kicks off in the Glades

District 6 County Commissioner Ken Foster held a small reception last Thursday at the Belle Glade Elks Lodge to kick off his re-election campaign.

Mr. Foster, who is running for his second term on the county commission, said he plans to run a very aggressive campaign, but will stay away from a negative focus.

He has drawn opposition for his seat from independent candidate Bill Tyson, 32, of Wellington and Bill Guthrie, a Democrat from the Acres. "I've had three years of incredible support from the Glades," said Mr. Foster. "Belle Glade was the most applicable place to start my kick-off. We're a rare breed of honesty, and sincerity in the Glades," he added.

Commissioner Foster said he has learned a lot about city and county government in his three years on the commission and he still had a lot of things he wants to accomplish for the Glades.

During the luncheon, Mayor Steve Weeks said Comm. Foster has been a true friend to the Glades and has done an excellent job on the county commission.

Mr. Foster says in his campaign brochure "I was born in the Glades and I have lived and worked in our community for more than 30 years. No one understands better than I do our need for an independent thinker and a strong voice on the County Commission."

Mr. Foster cited his accomplishments for the taxpayers in Belle Glade, Pahokee, South Bay, Canal Point, and Lake Harbor as follows:

- Reopened the commission office with a full time aide after six years
- Road money: $900,000 spent annually to maintain

Latin Grocery under new ownership

Grocery store manager Jose Alvarez has had a dream for years to own the Latin Grocery store in Belle Glade. Last month his dream came true when he purchased the store at 224 S.E. 3rd Street.

"I've always wanted this specific store," he said. "This is a small, family-owned store where I can try to help my customers."

Mr. Alvarez has 24 years in the grocery marketing business. He worked 21 years at Winn-Dixie, working his way up to manager, before taking over the manager's position at U-Save in Belle Glade three years ago.

His new venture requires long hours, but he isn't complaining. "Now I'm working for myself," he said. "It's hard work, but more pleasure."

Latin Grocery is already a very busy store, said Mr. Alvarez. He doesn't plan to make a lot of changes. All the original employees who were working there before he bought the business still work at the store, which has been open for 30 years.

"I want to make a few changes," he said. "I plan to add more American merchandise and offer a few new sandwiches."

The store is open Monday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. The staff is bilingual.

Mr. Alvarez moved to the Glades from Cuba in 1966 with his family.

He is currently president of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce and on the advisory board of West Technical Education Center's Food Management Division.

Building Blocks employee awarded child care credentials by CDA

Diane Hill of Building Blocks in Belle Glade has been awarded a Child Development Association (CDA) Credential in recognition of outstanding work with young children.

The credential was awarded by the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C., which represents the early childhood profession.

CDA is the only major national effort to improve child care by evaluating and recognizing the skills of individuals providing care.

Although the first credential was awarded just over 15 years ago, 49 states plus the District of Columbia already include CDA in child care licensing regulations.

Parents who use child care are especially concerned today about their children's welfare.

Every candidate for the CDA credential is observed working with young children.

They are evaluated by a team which includes early childhood experts and a parent.

The candidate must demonstrate ability to work with families to develop children's physical and intellectual capabilities in a safe and healthy learning environment.

Everglades update

tion of the South Florida farming areas.

Sen. Dantzer's bill proposes that Florida consumers pay a 6 percent sales tax when buying sugar. Those revenues would be used for research to find better technology for cleaning and restoring the Everglades. The bill also embraces much of the Statement of Principles and the Mediation Technical Plan for restoration. Farmers would pay up to $322 million during the next 20 years to protect the Everglades, levied at the rate of $523.50 per acre per year. That amount was agreed to by many farmers last summer if a fair compromise could be reached on other issues.

The Dantzer bill proposes to store more water in Lake Okeechobee to improve water flows in the Everglades. In addition, the Dantzer bill would raise money for Florida Bay restoration by using part of the toll money from Alligator Alley until 2004.

Environmentalists immediately attacked Sen. Dantzer's proposal. Their attitude makes very clear the environmentalists' emerging strategy: They will demand impossible terms for legislation so that the Legislature fails to pass an Everglades bill this session. Then they will appeal to the public to persuade them that since no Everglades legislation was passed, everyone should support the Barley Constitutional Amendment to get rid of farmers.

Sen. Dantzer would not bow to the criticism of his proposal and said he would try to blend together some elements of the Governor's proposal in the Thompson bill to find a bill that all members of the Legislature would find acceptable. A hearing is scheduled this week in the Natural Resources Committee on the result.

We will keep you posted on results.

Truancy

Officer Jim Love

Students from all over the county have been picked up in the Glades for skipping school.

The majority come from Glades Central and Lake Shore Middle School, but some are much younger students from the elementary schools. The numbers are surprising. Children as young as 7 and 8 have been caught cutting classes.

Officer John Runkles helps Officer Love in the program, which operates out of a back room at the Belle Glade Civic Center next to Glades Central High School. Maude Verreen, a long time employee for the Belle Glade Police Department, also helps.

"This is a great location," said Officer Love. "We can watch students walking off campus from here."

Officer Runkles, who asked to be assigned to the Truancy Interdiction Program, cruises the streets and alleyways every school day looking for truant children.

He also goes to the children's homes and talks with parents or guardians.

Both officers say they enjoy working with the students and hope to make a difference.

"If you've got one did you think you can help, you can work with him," Sometimes, the child has an understandable reason for not being in school.

Officer Love said he's heard many excuses, some that make you feel sorry for the child.

Some don't have shoes to wear, others had no clean clothes and refused to go to school in dirty clothes.

"We try to help them if this is the problem," said Officer Love. The Belle Glade Lions Club, Rotary and Milton Carpenter Insurance are a few of the local clubs and businesses that have offered to assist if a child is not in school because they have no decent clothing or shoes.

Other reasons heard by Officer Love include an older child who has been kept home by the parents to babysit younger siblings.

He said in those cases, the parents are reminded it is a second degree misdemeanor to keep a child out of school.

One child, who was in the office last week was about 9 years old. When asked why he was not in school, he said he had been rabbit hunting.

Following the cane field burning is one activity that keeps some kids out of school.

This young man caught 30 rabbits before being picked up by Officer Runkles. He said he could sell the rabbits for $2 each. He'd made $60 that day. Children picked up on the street during school hours are immediately taken to the TIP center.

They are questioned about why they aren't in school and the school and a parent is called. The parent must then take their child back to school and have a conference with the appointed school liaison.

Officer Love said the child's attendance is then monitored throughout the school year. So far, he added, they have only had about 20 to 24 repeat offenders out of the 308 truant.

Street patrol officers say the program is working. They say daytime crime is down in the city.

Everglades update

tion of the South Florida farming areas.

Sen. Dantzier's bill proposes that Florida consumers pay a 6 percent sales tax when buying sugar. Those revenues would be used for research to find better technology for cleaning and restoring the Everglades. The bill also embraces much of the Statement of Principles and the Mediated Technical Plan for restoration. Farmers would pay up to $322 million during the next 20 years to protect the Everglades, levied at the rate of $523.50 per acre per year. That amount was agreed to by many farmers last summer if a fair compromise could be reached on other issues.

The Dantzier bill proposes to store more water in Lake Okeechobee to improve water flows in the Everglades. In addition, the Dantzier bill would raise money for Florida Bay restoration by using part of the toll money from Alligator Alley until 2004.

Environmentalists immediately attacked Sen. Dantzier's proposal. Their attitude makes very clear the environmentalists' emerging strategy: They will demand impossible terms for legislation so that the Legislature fails to pass an Everglades bill this session. Then they will appeal to the public to persuade them that since no Everglades legislation was passed, everyone should support the Barley Constitutional Amendment to get rid of farmers.

Sen. Dantzier would not bow to the criticism of his proposal and said he would try to blend together some elements of the Governor's proposal in the Thompson bill to find a bill that all members of the Legislature would find acceptable. A hearing is scheduled this week in the Natural Resources Committee on the result.

I want to raise the question of the newly repaired U.S. 441 in the Pahokee/Belle Glade area.

I would like to know why wasn't the road repaired in the Pahokee area? I think it sends a negative message to the taxpayers citizens in Pahokee. We pay taxes too.

This is "Save Your Vision Week"

The City of Belle Glade has joined with President Bill Clinton in declaring the week of March 6 through 12, as "Save Your Vision Week."

The proclamation was announced by Mayor J. Stephen Weeks at the regular meeting of the Belle Glade City Commission.

Each year for 67 years, the President of the United States as well as Palm Beach County governments have declared "Save Your Vision Week".

Locally, this event is sponsored by the Palm Beach County Optometric Society.

Belle Glade optometrist Dr. Donald Fliehs accepted the proclamation on behalf of the Palm Beach County Optometric Society.

"Save Your Vision Week" reminds us of how important good vision is in our daily lives and of the need to take care of our eyes by seeking regular eye examinations," said Dr. Fliehs.

Dr. Fliehs and the other optometrists in the Palm Beach County Optometric Society want to be sure that every person has access to quality eye care and accurate eye health information.

"The need for regular eye care is extremely important today as our high-tech environment becomes more visually oriented," he pointed out. "An annual exam is the primary step to identifying and correcting vision conditions and eye diseases."

Eye examinations may also reveal other, non-eye, systemic diseases such as diabetes and hypertension.

The Palm Beach County Optometric Society is a professional organization representing local optometrists. One of its main functions is education.

Guest commentary

By Dean Beck
VISTA (Volunteers In Service To America) Literacy Coordinator

Aiming for a literate Glades

The national Adult Literacy Survey was a startling release concerning illiteracy in the United States. The survey interviewed 1,000 people in each of 12 states. In addition, they interviewed 1,000 inmates in federal and state prisons.

The survey found that between 21 percent and 23 percent of American adults are functioning at the lowest level.

This is approximately 40 to 44 million people. At most, people in level 1 are able to perform tasks involving "brief, uncomplicated text" such as totaling the entry on a bank deposit slip or locating information in a short news article, but many do so with difficulty. Others are unable to do so at all.

Interestingly, many respondents at Levels 1 and 2 did not consider themselves "at risk" because of their literacy skills. A majority of those at Level 1 and almost all those at Level 2 described themselves as being able to read English "well" or "very well."

The Glades area has a great many people that are at Level 1 and Level 2. It will take a great effort to find and to elevate those at these lower levels. Our future development of new businesses and opportunities in our area depends on having a literate labor base.

Our future is in the newer technologies. There are many resources in the area to help elevate the reading, writing and comprehension levels of those in need. The libraries in South Bay, Pahokee and Belle Glade have one to one tutoring services to meet this serious need. For information, call 996-3453.

March 1991 saw the first Tutor Training

Workshop held at the Belle Glade Library. That was followed by another workshop in June. That was the beginning of the involvement of the Palm Beach County Library, VISTA, and the community in their efforts to relieve the literacy needs of so many.

Those two workshops supplied the nucleus of an ongoing program that has been highly successful. The future of that program is now in jeopardy. Many in the community praise the program and think it should be permanent, but few offer their time to make it so.

Some of the tutors certified in these first workshops are still actively involved in the process. Their dedication is deserving of public recognition. The first two workshops certified the following: Mattie D. Walker, Margaret Lawton, Janet Johnson, Ralph D. Johnson, Janet Harris, Catherine Williams, Jeannette Brashford, Alice Wheaton, Frances Checkley, Bonnie Danto, Evelyn Allen, Jeanette Murray, Melissa Robinson, Dorothy Kendrick, Eleanor Wolf, Carolyn White and Annette W. Allen.

These tutors made the future brighter for the Glades area. This public recognition is just the beginning. In April the Glades Literacy Project will be starting its fourth year. It will, at that time, find a way to honor these literacy pioneers. It will also find a way to honor those who took advantage of the tutoring to improve their skills. Perhaps some are now holders of a GED diploma.

I don't assume that efforts such as these will make the area 100 percent literate, but it sure can't be said that we are not trying to reach that point.

Ask Dr. Boltson

Dr. David Boltson is the associate director of the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic in Belle Glade, and is a licensed psychologist in private practice in Lake Worth.

ing, or even public restrooms! The person feels as if something terrible is about to happen to them, even though most outside observers would say the person is in a safe situation.

Generally, phobias can develop in one of two ways. Specific early traumas can cause lifelong phobias.

If a person almost drowned when they were young, they can develop a fear of water. If a person was humiliated in a classroom, they can develop a fear of public speaking, etc. These automatic, fearful body reactions that phobic people exhibit can be very successfully eliminated through a variety of behavioral techniques that a psychologist can teach you.

Basically the person learns that they are safe today - even though years ago a similar situation produced a traumatic result.

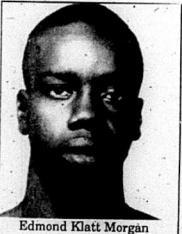

Phobic reactions can also develop in people who have low self-esteem and who have a general anxiety and uneasiness about life in general.

Although some practitioners believe that behavioral interventions also work for this type of patient, I have found that a more spiritual or holistic approach is more effective with these folks.

When people develop a greater acceptance of themselves and others they are less likely to exhibit idiosyncratic fear reactions in specific situations.

The message I want to leave readers with is that phobias are among the most successfully treatable psychological disorders. People can learn how to eliminate irrational fears.

If you would like to anonymously inquire about issues regarding yourself or your acquaintances, you may do so by writing to Dr. Boltson at: "Ask Dr. Boltson" West County Mental Health Clinic 1024 N.W. Ave. D Belle Glade, Florida 33430

It sounds like your friend may be suffering from a "phobia". This is a fancy word which means that a person has an excessive or unnecessary fear about something.

Recognized for Fire Safety Education... Belle Glade Fire Department Chief Tony Tuliano (left) accepts a plaque from the National Fire Safety Council for outstanding and dedicated service to fire safety education. With Mr. Tuliano are Kitty Margolis, area coordinator for the council, and Jack Lower, fire safety coordinator.

Fire Department receives recognition

The Belle Glade Fire Department has received recognition from the National Fire Safety Council for its outstanding and dedicated service to Fire Safety Education.

The National Fire Safety Council is a non-profit organization that distributes fire safety material to communities across the country. Kitty Margolis, area coordinator for the Council, recognized the local department for its four years of work with public and private school children.

One of the most effective areas of the department's fire safety program is a quality activity book that has been provided free of charge to all students in kindergarten through fifth grade in this area. Over the years more than 12,000 students have participated in this program, and its success is due to the fact that it presents vital information in an entertaining format that makes learning more attractive.

In addition to the activity booklets, the Fire Department provides ongoing pre-arranged group tours of the fire station, fire safety hand-out materials, and stick-on badges.

Belle Glade Fire Chief Tony Tuliano says, "The children of our community are a tremendous resource, and this department is committed to providing a quality fire safety program. I am very appreciative of the community support we have received for the booklets and educational materials the past four years. Without the support of area schools and financial backing, we simply would not be able to provide such an effective program."

Anyone interested in getting more information or in being a sponsor for future fire safety programs for area students should contact Chief Tuliano at 996-2032.

Did You Know... Exactly Who Was Johnny Appleseed?

Johnny Appleseed is the nickname of a man whose real name has been almost forgotten. He was known as John Chapman in his day, and he was born in Boston, Massachusetts in 1775—that would make him almost 220 years old today! When he was 26 years old, John Chapman began to do the one thing that gave him his special name. He began to plant apple trees.

For almost 50 years, Johnny Appleseed walked and rode horseback through Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. Everywhere he went, he carried bags of apple seeds and planted them as he traveled.

Johnny Appleseed was a religious man, and he loved nature. He believed it was his duty to travel the land planting apple seeds. He looked like a scarecrow in his ragged clothes, but legend says all the children learned to love him.

No harm ever came to Johnny Appleseed in his travels through the wilderness. The Indians knew him and were his friends, and even the wild animals left him alone. So the next time you eat an apple, think of the friendly traveler who helped grow this tasty treat!

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day

Everyone knows we celebrate St. Patrick's Day with shamrocks, leprechauns and clover. But do you know who this March holiday is celebrating? Keep reading and find out his interesting story.

St. Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland. He lived about 1,600 years ago, and was the first person to spread the Christian faith throughout Ireland.

St. Patrick was probably born in the year 389. When he was 16 years old, he was stolen from his home in Britain by Irish outlaws and was sold as a slave in Ireland. After six years as a slave he escaped, but he was determined to bring Christianity to the Irish.

Eventually, the Pope, the religious leader of the Catholic Church, made him a bishop and sent him to Ireland. In Ireland, St. Patrick converted many people, both rich and poor, to Christianity. By the time he died in 461, Ireland was on its way to becoming a Christian nation.

So why do we celebrate St. Patrick's Day with shamrocks? There are many legends about St. Patrick. One says that he used the three leaves of the shamrock to explain the idea of the Blessed Trinity. The Blessed Trinity is the belief that there are three persons—the Father, Son and Holy Spirit in one God. The Irish around the world celebrate in St. Patrick's honor on March 17.

You've Got To Be Joking

Carey: "I'd like to buy that dog, but his legs are too short."
Clerk: "Too short? Why? All four of them touch the ground."

Brenda: "Stop making faces at that bulldog."
Mike: "Well, he started it."

"Dad, will you help me with my homework?" asked Laurie.
"I'm sorry," replied the father, "but I'm afraid it just wouldn't be right."
"Well," said Laurie, "at least you could try!"

Springtime Safety Tips

Now that winter's over, it's the perfect time to get out your bike and enjoy the warmer weather. But first, use this list to make sure your bike is ready for the fun!

DO:

- Keep your tires inflated. The suggested pressure is printed on the side of your tires.
- Check your brakes. You shouldn't have to squeeze the brakes very hard before they work.
- Wipe your bike off if you ride it in the rain. You won't rust, but your bike will.
- Keep your bike clean. A shiny bike is a happy bike.

DON'T:

- Lock just your bike frame. Lock your front wheel, too, to make sure it's really secure.
- Forget your equipment if you're planning a long ride. Tools, a tire pump and tire patches are a few to take along.
- Store your bike for a long time on flat tires. Hang up your bike if you can, or pump some air into the tires every few weeks.

Now that your bike is ready to roll, make sure you're a safe rider:

- Don't ride with headphones on. Your eyes and ears are your best defense when riding.
- Always wear a helmet and ride in the same direction of traffic. Defensive riding is safe riding.
- Don't assume that drivers see you. Remember that their view is limited to what they see through a windshield and mirrors. Wear bright colors and always be aware of traffic around you.

Have a safe and fun ride!

Students compete in Black History Quiz Bowl

South Bay's Rosenwald Elementary held their annual Black History Quiz Bowl on Wednesday, March 3, and it was a huge success!

The entire student body was already studying about famous Black Americans during the month of February, but the third, fourth and fifth grades were asked to take on the tough task of participating in the quiz bowl.

Each class sent a panel of four students to represent them and each grade level competed against one another.

The competition was so tight that the sponsors had to make up extra questions to break the ties.

The winning teams received certificates of excellence and all of the participants received recognition.

As an added bonus, the principal suggested that the top teams compete for a reward of $25 per student.

Again, the competition proved to be very intense, and the winners were Michael Brown, Jamel Macklong, Antwon Wint and Edwin Haynes.

Unable to stop, a hurried driver causes his own accident

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

A driver using excessive speed caused himself and two of his passengers to be injured.

According to Florida Highway Patrol reports, Harrison B. Bernhardt, 21, was driving a 1993 Ford Explorer on State Road 15, 2 1/2 miles north of Belle Glade. While heading north on S.R. 15, Bernhardt attempted to slow down because a vehicle in front on him had slowed down to make a left turn from S.R. 15 to the entrance of Runion Village. Bernhardt lost control of the vehicle causing it to travel sideways down the shoulder slope on its right side. Reports state the vehicle then flipped over on its right side.

After flipping over, the vehicle spun in a clockwise position and then flipped over three additional times. After flipping numerous times, the vehicle came to a rest on its top facing in an easterly direction.

Reports also indicate one of the passengers in the vehicle was partially ejected from the vehicle.

Passengers injured in the accident were Ryan Miller, 18, of Crescent City. He was treated at Glades General Hospital and released. Richard Leahley, 36, of Lantana, was taken to GGH. He was later taken to St. Mary's Hospital, West Palm Beach.

Reports state Bernhardt received a cut on the face. He was taken to Glades General Hospital where he was treated and released.

Youth wrestlers learning takedowns and moves

A Youth Wrestling Club has been formed and Glades Central Community High School Wrestling Coach Frank Lasagna spends his hours after school preparing the youths for competition. According to the coach, kids wrestle as young as 6 or 7 years old.

At a wrestling match held recently, Tinoris Williams placed first in the 65 pound weight class. Tinoris is a student at Glade View Elementary.

Coach Lasagna said the club will be attending wrestling invitational regularly. The next match will be held Saturday, March 12, at the St. Lucie Gym.

Students interested in joining the club can attend practice Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, 3-4:30 p.m., in the wrestling room. If there is a need, and participation is evident, the younger kids will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

If you have further questions, please contact the high school at 996-4947 and leave a message.

Palms are sometimes neglected during winter months

Palms are an important feature in the South Florida landscape but during the winter months people often neglect taking care of them properly and they can become yellowed or discolored and actually detract from landscaping rather than add to it. Most palms can be injured by low winter temperatures and it's not uncommon to have many of the lower fronds on larger palms yellowed or discolored during this time of the year. People that take pride in their landscapes make special efforts during the winter months to discolored fronds pruned off and removed and to do fertilizing if needed to keep palms in good green healthy condition.

Often as you drive around the landscape you see many types of deficiencies and even diseases at the time of the year. One problem that's very evident in many types of palms is a lack of certain nutrients, particularly manganese and magnesium. The lack of manganese often shows up as new emerging leaves being very short, brown and frizzled. This condition, commonly nicknamed "frizzle top" is often seen in young palms, royal palms, most date palms and fan-leaved palms like parrots. The condition makes the entire palm appear to shrink and eventually can kill the bud and end the life of the palm. Applications of good palm fertilizers containing manganese or a supplement of manganese sulfate will correct this condition and allow the palm to resume producing normal appearing fronds.

Magnesium deficiency shows up on older leaves and typically the fronds have a dark green center with a light yellow edge and this progresses upward from the bottom towards the top of the palm. Canary Island date palms often show this deficiency in the lower eight to 10 fronds. Some people try to remove the problem by cutting off magnesium deficient fronds. This does not solve the problem though and the deficiency simply shows up in the next higher fronds.

There are other problems that can affect palms such as insects, but usually these are minor and do not do significant damage. Some caterpillars may chew palm fronds and scale insects may be occasionally found on the underside of the fronds. Most insects on palms are easily controlled by spraying if you wish to with such products as sevin, dipel or malathion.

South Bay Police Department implementing new communications network

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

The City of South Bay is presently initiating a new communications network in the police department and according to Police Chief Roy Humston, using the new network will save the department money and make the department function more effectively and efficiently.

Chief Humston said the finances for the renovations came from the funds in the city's Law Enforcement Trust Fund. "The good thing about the remodeling and renovations that we have made is that the taxpayers didn't pay for it," said the chief, "the drug dealers paid for it."

The majority of the renovations and remodeling of the communications department and the dispatch area was done by South Bay Police Officer Steve Alves and his grandfather, Louis Morris.

Officer Alves said he saw a need for things to be computerized when he joined the police department. According to Officer Alves, "everything in the department was done on paper."

He pointed out that it took approximately one hour to complete an arrest when he joined the department because officers were required to manually do reports and arrest affidavits. The officer said he brought in his personal lap-top computer and printer and began entering his reports and arrests. The chief and Officer Alves noticed that the time saved in entering reports and arrests on computers freed officers up to do more of their duties.

Chief Humston said, "By entering the reports on computer enables the officers to perform their duties more efficiently because they aren't confined in the police department, filling out lengthy reports."

He said the amount of time it saves is enormous. According to Officer Alves, a good portion of the dispatch area had to be rewired.

He said he and the chief went before the commission requesting funding for the project. The police department spent $3,700 for terminals, a laser printer, tape back up and a lot of cable. According to Officer Alves, the dispatch area was completed with $480. Chief Humston said all members of the police department will be trained for the new communications network. He said there is a training process presently taking place.

Dolly Hand named to Stetson University's Board of Trustees

Dolly Hand of Belle Glade is among the new members of the Stetson University Board of Trustees chosen during a meeting Feb. 17 and 18 on the DeLand campus. The session was the first under a revised university charter which expands the board from 24 members to a maximum of 36.

Stetson University President H. Douglas Lee described the new board, which includes four women and an African American, as "the largest, most representative board of trustees in Stetson University's history."

Mrs. Hand, president of Hand Enterprises in Belle Glade, was the only woman graduate in the 1949 class at Stetson's College of Law and the youngest student ever to complete the program. She and her husband, Homer, are challengers for the annual fund at Stetson, where they have established the Hand Award of Excellence in Faculty Research.

"This is a very diverse and inclusive board, fully capable of leading an institution like Stetson into the 21st century. The members are uniquely qualified, by the positions they hold in their respective fields and by their devotion to Stetson, to assist the university in reaching its very ambitious financial goals and to help students prepare for successful careers," said Mr.
